

Invitation to Participate in and Support IPPS 2027

The 52nd Conference of the Israeli Polymers and Plastics Society

January 7, 2027, | Pavilion 10, EXPO Tel Aviv

Dear Exhibitors and Sponsors,

We are pleased to invite your company to participate in and support the 52nd Conference of the Israeli Polymers and Plastics Society—IPPS 2027, which will take place on January 7, 2027, at Pavilion 10, EXPO Tel Aviv.

The annual IPPS Conference is one of Israel's central professional meetings in the fields of polymers, plastics, and advanced materials. The conference is expected to bring together approximately 300 participants from academia and industry, including leading researchers, engineers, students, technology developers, manufacturers, suppliers, and decision-makers from across Israel's polymer and materials community.

The meeting will provide a valuable platform for presenting recent scientific and technological advances, exchanging knowledge, establishing new collaborations, recruiting talented young scientists, and strengthening the connections between academic research and industrial innovation. The scientific program will include international keynote speakers, invited lectures, contributed talks, a broad poster session, awards for outstanding research, and dedicated opportunities for professional networking and academia–industry interaction.

The updated scientific program will feature the following topics:

Polymeric Biointerfaces & Devices	Polymer Design & Self-Assembly
Tailored Polymers & Processing	Polymer Chemistry & 3D Printing
Polymeric Therapeutics & Delivery	Advanced Characterization in Polymers
3D Printing & Composites	Polymeric Fibers & Composites

As a member of the Organizing Committee, I am reaching out personally to invite your company to participate in this important event. Your organization plays a valuable role in the polymer and materials ecosystem, and your presence would be highly appreciated by the entire community—particularly by students and young researchers seeking professional connections, scientific guidance, and future opportunities in industry.
